

Tilda Swinton depends on suave concierge Ralph Fiennes in The Grand Budapest Hotel, out March 7.

"I feel taken care of at the Raffles in Singapore."
—KARL LAGERFELD

"The Maroma Resort and Spa in Mexico has the most beautiful coastline."
—CONNIE BRITTON

Burning Question WHAT'S YOUR FAVORITE HOTEL IN THE WORLD?

"The San Ysidro Ranch in Southern California is the best hideaway."
—JENNIFER GARNER

"The Bowery Hotel in New York—the cool people there make me want to be more interesting."
—KRISTEN STEWART

"The Beverly Hills Hotel. I'm there all the time, even though I live in L.A."
—NICOLE RICHIE

PARTY PINSPARATION!

If you already browse Pinterest for fun fête ideas, here's a chance to up the ante: Plan a bash's entire theme around these clever ideas from pinning-pro Joy Cho, whose Oh Joy! boards have more than 13 million devotees. —G.L.

1. Pinner Potluck Ask guests to bring their most-pinned recipe. Cho's winner? Sweet and savory dark-chocolate grilled cheese sandwiches.

2. Color Rave For décor, pick the two hues you pin most often, then take it a step further. "Request that friends wear the shades too," suggests Cho.

3. Confection Reception Tell pals to bake a dessert, minus toppings. Then re-create pinned masterpieces at the shindig using sprinkles, stencils, and icing.

Plastic cutlery ($4/10 3-piece sets), scalloped tissue napkins ($3/30), paper plates ($3/10), melamine decal tray ($15), plastic goblets, ($4/4). All available on March 16 at target.com.

Cho introduces soirée-ready goodies at Target this month. They're fun to use long after the party's over.

Seth Does Late Night Right

On February 24, comic genius Seth Meyers trades his shared desk at Saturday Night Live's Weekend Update for a solo seat as host of Late Night. Since this zinger king has years of experience staying up while most of us are getting ready for bed, we asked him how he rolls after-hours. Really.

WHAT'S YOUR TIPPLE OF CHOICE?

"Scotch on the rocks. But my Irish bartender says I'm ruining it with ice."

WHO DO YOU CALL AFTER MIDNIGHT?

"Friends who left SNL for the West Coast, like AMY POEHLER. It's not 1:30 A.M. there!"

ANY RECURRING DREAMS?

"I rarely have dreams about comedy, but I once was a waiter, and I still have nightmares that table 11's check is open. It's terrifying."

WHAT DO YOU WATCH LATE AT NIGHT?

"My wife and I just started Enlightened. If we're in bed, I'll have to watch it again, because she's asleep in five minutes."

—MEGAN DEEM